foreword

Of all the situations to which college students are asked to respond, the challenge of success is by far the most exacting. If we can successfully solve the enigmas of the future, there are indeed, as our theme states, many "Worlds to Conquer." These worlds may range from the immediate goal of graduation to the ever-present challenge of life itself.

Here, at Winston-Salem State, we have become prepared through intensified effort and study to face the problems of tomorrow.

For some, the world may be to fight and sweat in the swamps of a far-off country defending what we believe is right. For others, the duty may be to inquire and tread into the horizons of whatever is still unknown. Still others may have the task of going through the world as self-appointed ambassadors of good will to try to persuade others that friendship is better than power, that justice should be tempered with mercy, that happiness excels wealth, and that love is greater than charity.

Whatever may be our world to conquer, we know that we have been adequately prepared at Winston-Salem State.

So, as Seniors, we have tried to preserve, through the Red and White, some of the feeling that has accompanied life here at Winston-Salem State. We have endeavored to portray the academic, social, and cultural life of the college in order that we may be forever reminded of the preparation we have received here, "lest we forget oh, lest we forget."

president's message

It is hoped that the individuals who turn the pages of this book will sense the dynamic spirit that prevails at Winston-Salem State College. It is a determination to move forward in all things - to strive for the best.

I wish to express my appreciation to the members of the faculty, staff and student body for their sincere and dedicated efforts and hard work. The entire College family cooperated to make the story told in this book possible. I wish especially to thank the faculty members and students who assembled the material that is in this annual. They have done an outstanding job of portraying Winston-Salem State College during the 1966-1967 academic term.

in appreciation

The guidance that she gave us cannot be measured by any means. Through her invaluable assistance the senior class of 1967 has been able to conquer the obstacles of the past. We are ever remindful of her generous and invaluable service.

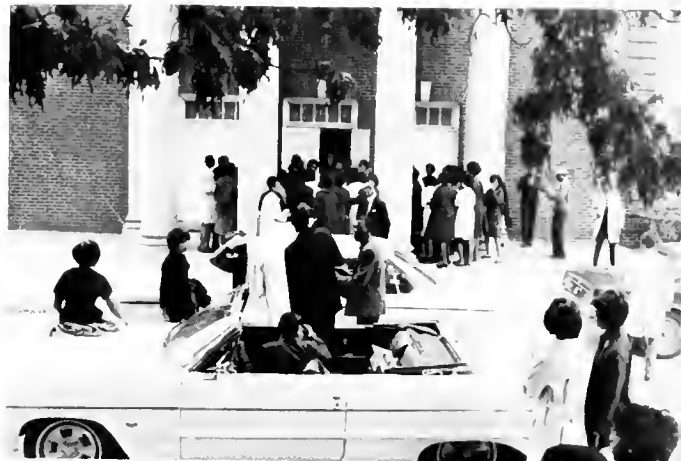

After three years of struggling, we slowly bring our stay at State to a close. Mrs. Hauser has aided us in solving many problems which we could not have done otherwise. She has helped smooth the way for us so that we may face the task of departing with enthusiasm and zeal.

REMEMBER

Remember me when I am gone away
Gone far away into the silent land,
When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go yet turning stay.
Remember me when no more day by day
You tell me of our future that you planned;
Only remember me . . .

Dear Student Body,
 At the end of the 1966-67 academic school year and the point of termination of my undergraduate stay here at Winston-Salem State College, I feel deeply honored to be granted the opportunity to leave with you this message:

Freshman: Maintain your zeal and zest, but direct it towards meaningful ends.

Sophomores: You are at the mid-point of your immediate objective. Concentrate your efforts and the objective will be yours.

Juniors: Continue to strive and be strong leaders.

Seniors: Congratulations! Do not let this first degree terminate your quest for excellence. You are only on the first rung of the ladder of academic achievement. To a great extent, my stay here has been a most pleasant one. As President of the Student Body, I may not have achieved all that you desired, but, then, no one person can.

My memories of you will never fade. Best wishes, henceforth and forever.

President,
 Melvin Mayo

The Pan-Hellenic Council is the governing body of Winston-Salem State College Greek-letter organizations. The major purpose of the council is to make policies and coordinate the activities of the eight member organizations. Many feel that its purpose is to carry out programs and projects similar to the eight member organizations. However, its function is policy making.

The Winston-Salem State Rams, playing for the first time in the round of eight, captured the national championship in the college division of the NCAA tournament by defeating Southwest Missouri, 77-74 at Evansville, Indiana. Winston-Salem became the first team in the CIAA and the first southern team to win this title. It is also the first Negro team to win a national championship. The triumph gave State a 31-1 season record.

Led by the shooting of the nation's leading scorer—All-American Earl Monroe, the Rams defeated Long Island University, 62-54, in a first round game and Kentucky Wesleyan by 82-73 in the semi-finals. Monroe, scoring 40 points in the final contest was voted the tournament's most valuable player.

The Rams sported a 24-0 record before the CIAA tournament. This included a forfeit from non-conference foe High Point College, a perfect 21-0 CIAA conference record, and a victory over third ranked Akron University. Winston-Salem also boasted the championship of the Chicago Invitational Tournament. They won this honor by defeating Bethune-Cookman, 94-79, Johnson C. Smith University, 105-84, and Wilberforce, 101-100.

The lone defeat for State came from conference foe, North Carolina A & T in the semi-finals of the CIAA Tournament, whom the Rams had beaten twice in the regular season.

The team gained berth in the final round of eight by sweeping the eastern regionals of the NCAA college division at Akron, Ohio. They defeated Baldwin-Wallace by 92-73 and Akron, 88-80. Monroe was named most valuable player.

afterthought

As this academic year fades away, it is imperative that we realize that this is not the conclusion of our struggle, merely the beginning; that this is not the final payment on our contribution to the world, only a minute part; that this is only one of our "worlds to conquer"; there are many others.

It is hoped that the pages of this book will provide a vivid account of this college year at Winston-Salem State. The staff has endeavored to capture the social, cultural, and academic spirit that one encounters here and preserve it in the '67 Red and White.

Advisor, Mr. Luix Overbea with Staff members

The immense task of preparing a yearbook depends upon the concerted efforts of many people. Therefore, we would like to express our gratitude to the following people who helped to make this yearbook a success although they were not staff members.

SAM is a know-it-all

SAM is the Sentinel Answer Man — a reader service of the Twin City Sentinel.

Readers can ask SAM questions by telephoning his special number, or by writing him. SAM chooses the questions of general interest and answers them in his column.

What was the first religious group to settle in North Carolina? (Church of England). What country owns the Rock of Gibraltar? (England). What does the J stand for in the R. J. Reynolds name? (Joshua).

These are some typical questions and answers in SAM's column — one of the most popular reader services to come along in recent years.

It's just another of the many ways in which the Winston-Salem Journal and Sentinel newspapers render community service to Winston-Salem and Northwest North Carolina.
